Volume 3, Issue 1, December 2022

A glimpse of the year 2022 (January to December)

Thankfully 2022 was as normal a year as any before Covid 19 throttled our lives in 2020 and 2021. Our college could run smoothly, and we could make up to a large extent for the two lost years. Once again students filled the classrooms, and the teaching-learning process became normal. We had offline examinations which are necessary to sift between academically brilliant students and academically truant candidates. Webinars gave way to seminars and practical classes could be held. Science subjects cannot be taught without practical hands-on training. Our faculty travelled widely, some to read papers in conferences and some to complete required Faculty Development Programmes. Many teachers were awarded their PhDs in 2022 and many other teachers retired after decades of teaching. The college could give them offline farewells following age-old traditions. Before the commencement of the Puja vacations, both non-teaching and teaching staff came together under the leadership of our Principal to have a joint function which is a first of its kind in the recent history of the college. This was just before the Pujas. It is this spirit of unity that marked 2022.

This volume of WindowsNDC is a rainbow after an intense thunderstorm. When the total world was running away from social contact, Narasinha Dutt College embraced the destitutes and gave shelter to homeless people. Narasinha Dutt College has resumed its normal activities with physical presence of all stakeholders after the pandemic. This was a start from a big zero. The College premise was devastated due to prolonged closure and massive cyclone. The stars of this galaxy never disappeared. This issue of WindowsNDC is a garland of those stars which are sparkling throughout the year. This institution has set an example of how bad patches can be erased through hard work, deep involvement and genuine dedication. I feel really proud to tell the story of success, the story of heritage, the heritage of a century. Narasinha Dutt College is going to celebrate its glorious centenary this year. Hope WindowsNDC will carry a breeze of glory. On behalf of the institution, I express my sincere gratitude to all my dear colleagues, and students. I wish this publication a grand success.
